Housewives Take It Easy

CLASSES AT PETOSKEY IN MAY FOR THOSE HAVING HEART DISEASE

Free classes for Emmet and Charlevoix County housewives, to teach them how to live and work with less drain on their energy, will begin on May 6, 1952 in Petoskey, it was announced today by F. Jenney Smith, M. D., Detroit, President of the Michigan Heart Association.

The announcement is of special importance to all women who are incapacitated by heart disease.

The classes, which are a free community service project of the Michigan Heart Association, are designed to fill the doctor's prescription of "take it easy" by showing the homemaker how to save as much as 75% of her walking, 75% of her movements, and 60% of her reaching. This tremendous savings of time and energy means lessening the strain placed on the heart by reaching, the physical effort expended by the housewife.

"Most people can enjoy the luxury of extra time and energy that results from finding easier and better ways of doing things," Dr. Smith states, "but for the housewife with heart disease, the saving of time and energy is an absolute necessity."

The course of instruction is available to any woman in the community, but cardiac patients will be admitted to the classes first. Housewives may register for the free classes by writing to Mrs. Sidney Reinbold, Home Demonstration Agent; Court House, Petoskey, or by calling her office at 3-291.

Cardic housewives in the Emmet and Charlevoix County area are urged to obtain their application blanks this week from Mrs. Reinbold in order that they may attend the first class.

Each homemaker will be able to attend four (two hour demonstration-lecture classes which will be held on May 6, 13, 20 and 27. Classes will meet from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. in the Methodist Church, located at Mitchell and Division Streets in Petoskey.

The Cardiac Housewife Program is made possible by the Michigan Heart Association through funds received from the Emmet County Community Chest. The complete course of instruction is being offered in this area by the Michigan Heart Association through the Home Economics Extension Sevice of Michigan State College.

Meeting Called To Discuss Fourth of July Plans

A committee appointed by the American Legion has called a meeting open to all those who are interested in helping with a Fourth of July celebration for East Jordan this year. The meeting will be held this Friday night at 8:00 p.m. at the Legion Hall.

If enough interest is shown, a two or three day celebration can be planned, with Soap Box Derby, parade, fireworks, and all the other activities that go with celebrating our county's birthday.

With the Fourth falling on Friday this year, and with festivals, jamborees, and carnivals being held throughout the state, it seems the East Jordan should join in the fun.

If you are interested, come to the Legion hall Friday night and give this plan a boost.

John Knight Candidate For State Representative

John Knight, Mayor of Charlevoix, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the state legislature from the Charlevoix district which includes Benzie, Leelanau and Charlevoix counties.

He will seek nomination to the post now held by Louis E. Anderson of Northport, veteran chairman of the House Taxation committee.

Knight, 44 and a native of Kalamazoo, is serving his third term as mayor of Charlevoix. Prior to his election to the office he served one year as a member of the city council.

Knight attended the University of Michigan for three years and graduated from the University of Southern California. He operates a dry cleaning concern, the Michigan Cleaners, and the Knight Insurance Agency.

In announcing his candidancy Knight said "I have a lot of respect for Mr. Anderson but I think he has held the job long enought. I feel it should be rotated between the three counties comprising the Charlevoix district. If I am successful in this campaign, I am only interested in one, or possibly two, terms".

Knight is married and has three children.

HOME DEMONSTRATION GROUPS SET PROGRAM OF 1952 ACTIVITIES

"Today's home builds tomorrow's world." Under that banner, Home Demonstration group members in this county are prepared to start observance of National Home Demonstration Week on April 27.

Coming up for review will be the work and accomplishments of the members in this county who have carried on a program throughout the year for better, happier living.

Reaching the million families in the United States, Home Demonstration work emphasizes the importance of women in their roles as homemakers and mothers. Here in Michigan, 40,000 women belong to 2,445 home demonstration groups. The program is sponsored jointly by the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State College, cooperating with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, county governments and local organizations.

During this seventh annual Home Demonstration Week, members will be considering projects for the coming year. From a varied list of 59 topics, members of the local groups will decide what they want to study. The general topics available to women here are home management, clothing, parent education and child development, nutrition and home furnishings.

Mrs. Leona MacLeod, Michigan State College, directs the 53 home demonstration agents who carry the program to all 83 counties in the state. She is aided by three assistant state leaders and a staff of specialists who handle lessons about the specific subjects.

Whether the women want to learn better dish-washing techniques or how to handle properties and wills, information is effectively handled by the specialists who conduct schools for leaders from each group. Last year leader training meeting numbered 1,445.

State Senator Andrews Candidate For Re-election

State Senator Frank Andrews, Hillman Republican, announced today he will be a candidate for renomination to his present office at the August Primary.

A consistent opponent of pressure groups seeking to impose new taxes on consumers during his two terms in the upper house of the legislature, Senator Andrews was singled out for recognition last year by the magazine "Inside Michigan."

This publication polled newspapermen who cover the state capitol and as a result named him one of the five outstanding members of the present Senate for his contribution to general improvement of state government.

When first elected to the Senate four years ago, Senator Andrews was a newcomer to state politics. However, he brought with him a wealth of experience and knowledge gained as president of the village of Hillman for seven terms. It was this background that earned for him the chairmanship of the important committee on municipalities.

"If the voters of the twenty-ninth district decide to return me to Lansing as their spokesman for another term, I will continue my fight for lower taxes and better government," he said.

"By better government, I do not mean more government. I intend to do all I can to effect the economies suggested by the Commission on Reorganization of Government — the Little Hoover Committee."

During his present term, Senator Andrews was successful in obtaining the passage of a law of great importance to Great Lakes seamen. Under his sponsorship, the Unemployment Compensation Act was amended to enable seamen to obtain unemployment benefits in the same manner as other seasonal employees.

A resident of Hillman for 18 years, Senator Andrews was a member of the county draft board for five years, county director of civilian defense, disaster chairman of the American Red Cross and county chairman of the Veterans Council. He is a member of the board of directors of the Michigan Crippled Childrens Society, a member of the Elks, Eagles and Rotary International.

Vocational and Technical Training

Plan for the establishment of a novel type of training and guidance center are announced by A. L. Drapeau of East Jordan and at present a teacher in the Bellaire school system of Bellaire.

For several years he has made a study of the need for vocational and technical training particularly in the smaller schools of the state.

The plan at present is to establish a summer camp-school combination to provide basic training in trade, technical and business education.

Supplemental to the above, speaker, make up, and now available courses will be offered to graduates, seniors, and young men desiring more rapid advancement upon entering the services.

These latter courses will be available during the school year preferably on Saturday.

All instruction will be conducted by qualified public school personnel.

Further details will offer in this paper at an early date.

Pre-School Clinic

TO BE HELD TUESDAY APRIL 29th AT EAST JORDAN SCHOOL

April 29, is the date for the pre-school clinic. Is your boy or girl ready, physically and mentally to start school in September?

Every child should have a physical examination before they enter school. This should be done early enough to give time for any necessary correction to be made should it be found.

Perhaps your child has been saying he or she did not want to go to school. Why? you have asked yourself when this remark is made. Perhaps some other child has told them, all in fun, of what would happen when they started to school. Maybe someone unknowingly has made a statement that we as adults understood but in a small child's mind was frightening. We believe that by holding the pre-school clinic at school in the kindergarden rooom and having the teacher present we can perhaps give your child a preview of what he will be doing when he comes to school in the fall. In this way we hope to make his first school days happy ones and not something that he dreads.

Dr. Litzenburger, Director of the Charlevoix County Health Department, will be present to see each child and discuss with you any question or problems you may have.

After the Doctor has seen the children and talked with the parents they will have an opportunity to play in the kindergarten room and become acquainted with the teachers and other boys and girls who will be their classmates in the fall. This will also give the parents time to discuss any questions they may have with the teachers and learn what is expected of the children when they enter school.

We would like to suggest that when you come to the clinic on April 29 you and your boy or girl come the route that he or she will have to come to school. Point out the bad street crossing, and any other hazards they might encounter on the way to school. You might also show them certain land marks they might remember to make them feel safer their first few weeks on coming alone.

We hope you will make an effort to attend this pre-school clinic April 29, at the East Jordan School. The Kindergarten rooms are in the basement of the grade school building.

Milk Flavors Easily Cured Home Economics Jottings

Off-flavors in milk are a year around problem but may often become worse in the spring, according to Don Murray, Michigan State College extension dairyman.

Flavor is important in selling diary products and it should be fresh and clean, Murray points out A few simple precautions will help to insure a high quality product.

Feed flavor is present when milk is produced. It is usually strongest in the night milk than in the morning milk. Such flavors are caused by feeding hay or silage, or grazing in pasture just before milking. It can be corrected by feeding after milking and taking cows off pasture a couple of hours before milking. Some weed flavors may take longer.

Racteria in high numbers can cause flavors changes such as in sour milk. Good sanitation, clean cows and equipment will help to prevent such flavors.

Absorbed flavors are caused by cows breathing air in poorly ventilated barns. Proper ventilation and fresh air are the best remedies for this "cowy" or "barny" flavor.

Murray says that cows late in lactation often produce salty flavored or bitter milk. Mastitis may change chemical composition. Such animals should be eliminated from the regular milk supply.

Foreign material can cause flavors associated with medicine, fly spray and gasoline. Murray advocates avoiding exposure of any dairy untensils and milk to such products.

The housewife has a responsibility, too, the dairyman says. She should put milk in the refrigerator as soon as it is delivered in order to proctct it from the light.

The Bargain: I don't want it; I can't use it; but at that price I can't refuse it.

SCHOOL NEWS

The road behind the school:
Watch for the children
Now that Spring has come,
The road behind the school
Is for buses only, chum—

Second Grade — Mrs. Bowerman

In our number lessons, we have been learning to tell time. The children need more experience in associating the time by the clock with the actual time of day so I would like to suggest to the parents that they give the children opportunities at home to practice what they are learning. The faces on most clocks in the home are quite different than the cardboard face we are learning from and this sometimes bothers a child. Roger Clark brought out the fact that the numbers on his grandpa's clock were different than most numbers so we are learning to read Roman numerals to twelve.

Raymond Fisher won the prize for bringing the first frog eggs to school. Now we are busy looking for information about frogs and how to care for the eggs properly. We hope they will turn into poywogs for us.

Each Tuesday afternoon recess we take a Nature Study walk over the same route to observe the progress of various flowers, shrubs, trees, etc. along the way. Mr. Bartlett's bed of pernnials has been very interesting to us.

One of four bulletin boards is water. We have two headings, being filled with pictures about "Water as our Friend" and "Water as our Enemy."

Our bird study has been most interesting too. We now have seven birds which we can identify from pictures and give a few interesting facts about each one. We are combining our language and writing periods to compose and write stories about these birds.

Last Fall we had several varieties of broom corn given to us in connection with our study of Indian life. Several of our young farmers are taking some of the seeds to try out in their gardens at home.

Third Grade — Mrs. Hughes

Rose Donaldson, Ronnie Kloosster and Janet Dougherty brought bouquets of wild flowers to school. We talked about not picking very many so we should allaws be able to find them in the woods in the spring. The children brought a few of each kind of wild flower.

Our children were glad to hear that Mr. Wade is getting along pretty well now.

We are learning more about the redwinged blackbird and the meadow lark this week.

All our children love to be outdoors at recess and noon now.

Every child is back in school in our room. We hope they will be able to come every day these last six weeks.

Fifth Grade — Mrs. Mosher

We have many kinds of spring flowers in our room.

In social studies we are studying South America. Our new textbooks help to make our work interesting. Some of us have found books about South America in the libraries.

In science we are making birdbooks. We are paying special attention to the habits of the different birds and how they are fitted by nature to do as they do. We saw a movie on birds the other day which showed them in their beautiful colorings and also showed how some birds coloring protects them.

We are working on fractions in arithmetic. Some of us are working extra hard on our times tables. Only a few are left who do not know them. We find that the better we know them the easier all our problems are.

It's Hard to Believe But it's True!

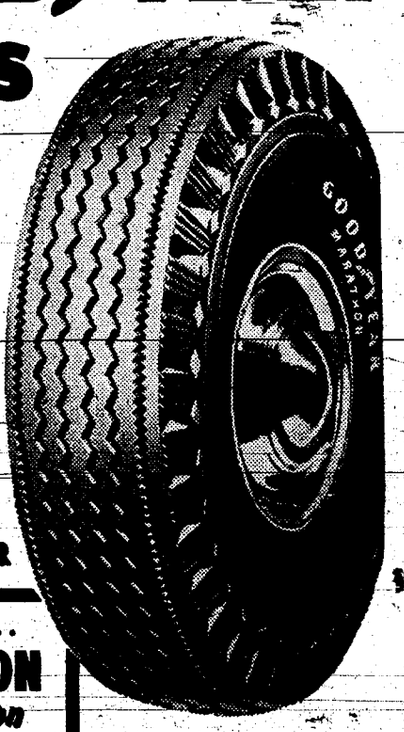

Four important practices pioneered by State Farm Mutual save members millions of dollars over ordinary insurance costs!

- With State Farm's original—different—insurance plan you pay the cost of a local agent's sales commission only once. After that you pay only for insurance; a real saving every time.
- Careful drivers are the ones State Farm aims to insure... fewer accidents keep costs down.
- State Farm's unique semi-annual method of preparing premium notices enables State Farm to gear rates to members' recent driving records. In the last four years, rates have been reduced more than $18,000,000.
- All these company advantages are shared mutually, and the savings which result benefit State Farm members.

Sprouting and storage losses of root crops controlled with maleic hydrazide

A new growth regulator, maleic hydrazide, has reduced or prevented sprouting of stored onions, potatoes, sugar beets and vegetable root crops in experiments conducted by Michigan State College Agricultural Experiment Station. Sprayed on plant leaves at specified times before harvesting, maleic hydrazide has lengthened the storage life of onions, even perishable hybrids. Treated potatoes have been kept up to 12 months without sprouting. Storage losses of carrots, beets and other vegetable root crops have been greatly reduced. For full information call, write or visit your County Agricultural Agent.

"Visual Truck" helps preserve telephone service

Telephone wires and cables exposed to weather get periodic inspection to make sure they are in good condition. A big time-saver on such a job is a special ladder truck, with an aerial platform that can be shifted in a complete circle 21 feet above the ground. Michigan Bell is making more and more use of this truck, because it gives inspectors free use of both hands, and enables them to inspect wires over parked cars and trucks. It's another of many modern methods which Michigan Bell uses to preserve dependability and quality of telephone service.

The Servicemen's Letter

Hi Fellas:

We add another man to the Air Mail List this week. Bob Mosher has taken the overseas jump toward the East. His new address is: Pvt Robert D. Mosher, US 55 187 692, Proc Sq 49, APO 125, c/o PM, New York, N.Y. This is not his permanent address but will likely be his for some time. He left for England on April 7th with 2,000 to 2,500 other soldiers. The trip over was expected to take from 7 to 9 days. The ocean should be smoothing out by this time of the year. Let's all hope that Bob has a good crossing.

A letter from Fred Burbank advises us that he is still aboard the USS Diamond Hear (AE-19) "C" Div, C/o FPO, New York, N.Y. Fred writes, "Well, I guess that it's about time I got a few letters out. I've been feeling a little on the lazy side lately and haven't written to hardly anyone. The weather is a little gloomy down here today, as usual, but one can't expect summer in April in Virginia, or so they tell me.

'We arrived here again in Norfolk the 18th of March after a rough three days enroute from Newport, R.I. We spent seven weeks there on underway training. Seven solid weeks of General Quarters, Fire Drills, Man Overboard, Abandon Ship, and well you just name it and we had it. After we arrived here in Norfolk we sat out in the stream for about a week before they had a tender open for us. And as luck would have it, it's the same one that we were alongside the first time we came into Norfolk from Orange, Texas. We are scheduled to move out again the 15th for two more days of training, then we hit that clear blue and head for the Med.

'Don't know why but I'm looking forward to Paris in Spring, Spain and Italy in the Summer. What a Life.

'Oh yes, you can skip that swabbing the deck and polishing bright work. About six weeks ago I was transferred to the "C" Division and am now a personnelmen striker. About the only deck I swab, and it needs it now, is the one in the ship's office. All I do all day is sit and pound a typewriter, file, and push a pencil. Boy this is the life for me. But don't get me wrong. I'm not a twenty year man by a long way.

'Well, I have a few more things to type up and get ready for the Executive Officer's signature and then get ready for watch, so I'll sign off for now and get back to work. Tell all "Hello" and I'll see you all sometime in October."

Thanks for the letter, Fred. That Paaris in the Spring deal is great. Soak it all up.

Lawrence Wright wrote his dad this past week and it appears they have been pushing him around a bit. Here's what he writes, "I will try to explain to you why we haven't written sooner. When we got to New Burge we went out to the Base to see about a house. They told us that my outfit had shipped out two months ago and went to Syracuse. We then had to go to Syracuse, which was about three hundred miles north. When we got there they told us we wouldn't stay there very long. We stayed there about four days and then we had to ge to Lockport, which is about twenty miles from Niagara Falls. That was about two hundred miles farther. We had to stay in a hotel all that time, so you can see where our money went. Right now we are only about five hundred and twenty miles from home. We are living in Lockport, N.Y. which is about seven miles from the base. The address I sent you was wrong. The mail will still get to me all right b utfrom now on leave out the Shawnee AFB."

That's just like the service, Lawrence, they tell you one thing and mean another. And sometimes they drag you all over from here to there. Rather hard on the nerves as well as the pocketbook.

Glenn Persons will be in East Jordan on Saturday the 26th of April. He is getting a leave from his ship, the USS Botetourt, APA-136, "C" Div, C/o FPO, New York, N.Y., which is now in dry dock at Norfolk. Glen will be on leave from April 24th to May 4th but he is spending the bulk of his leave in Grand Rapids so that he can be with the family. Glen says they have been keeping him pretty busy down there.

Keith Vance has moved again. His new address is: Maurice K. Vance, 433 21 17, Box 7, Operations Flight Line, NAS, Jacksonville, Florida. Right down where it is beginning to really get hot down there as it has been up here these last few days you really will catch it, Maurice. Watch out for that Sun. It can murder you.

Darwin Morris checked in from Fort Filey, Kansas with the following letter: "Guess it's time I let you know where we are and what we are doing. We have been in the Army three weeks tomorrow. We spent 12 days in Fort Custer and came down here last Sunday. We will be 8 weeks of basic here. We are in the A.S.A. so will be sent somewhere else for our schooling. We start our basic tomorrow so will be busy from then on for a few weeks.

'The weather here is very changeable. Tuesday it was about 85 degrees and Wednesday about 30. It rains most of the time and we have lots of mud. I suppose spring has arrived there by this time. There are lot of Michigan men here but haven't seen any from E.J. as yet.

'We attended the Sunrise Service this morning. (Easter) They had a very good service.

'The Army food is very good. It isn't quite like home cooking but it's not bad for as many as they feed. Well, tell the EJ people "Hello" for us and keep the town rolling and we'll be back home sometime. Until we do will let you know how the Army treats us."

Two weeks ago I had a correction on Walter Moblos address and it now develops that it was a bum steer. Walt wrote me this last week and asked me to change his address back the same as it was previously. His correct address is: A/3c Walter J. Moblo, AF 16 383 365, 3366 Stu Sqd, Amarillo AFB, Texas. Where that other address came from I do not know, Walt. Guess I'll have to check a little closer on who brings in addresses. Walt adds in his letter that he is now attending a Jet school studying to be a jet-plane mechanic. That sounds complicated, Walt.

Frances Lenosky wrote her folks and asked them to check up on her paper on this end. She wrote that she was getting them all in a bunch. From two to four papers at a time. Upon checking we found that we had her address wrong and that she had moved to a different address on the same Base. He present address is: Lt Frances J. Lenosky, AN 7 90 406, 566 Med Sq, 566 A.B.Gp, Hamilton, AFB, California. Hope your papers come through better from now on, Frances.

Well, guess that's about all for now, men. Got to get home and get some shuteye. That alarm rings pretty early in the morning. Especially if Mary Lou wakes us up a time or two during the night. So — until next week —Sooooo Long.

"Jake" Snyder

Georga Murphy, reporter

A frog in a puddle may muddle through, but a frog in a pond must swim.

If living costs go any higher, we'll just have to do without it.

The Michigan capital is a wonderland all of its own.

Legislative leaders herald the 1952 record as "economy", yet appropriations totaled $330,500,000, an increase of $21,000,000 over the year ago. How can you have economy when you are spending more? Fact: $18 millions more were authorized for public schools under mandatory diversion of state sales tax revenues, required by voter-approved constitutional amendment. Confusing isn't it?

Then Governor Williams, whose own budget was cut $24 millions, decries the $33 million new tax program as a "fraud and a gun held against the taxpayer's head."

The governor chapions the poor suffering taxpayer, yet he defends his plan for $60 millions in new taxes. How come?

This is the magic mirror of state socialism: more and more benefits for the common man, all at the expense of the idle rich — the employers of business and industry. In other words, tax profits.

President Truman used the same tactics in seizing the steel industry, proclaiming steel owners' profits to be 2½ Billions. He failed to say that net profits were less than $1 billion ($926-millions, in fact) and that the federal government captured the difference in high taxes!

Confusing, isn't it? Remember — 1952 is a political year.

Victor A. Knox, the big man from the Soo, 280-acre farmer at 18, is going to run for Congress.

And to all appearances the raggy-featured Republican will win the race with the same handiness which has kept him in the legislature 16 years, the last six of them as speaker of the House of Representatives.

The recent announcement of his candidacy came as no surprise to capitol observers despite the fact Knox has hinted very broadly he was interested in the secretary of state's job and the auditor generalship.

The 53-year-old Republican was quietly waiting to see if Rep. Potter was going to vacate his seat and run for the senate. And at last Potter decided to forsake a relatively sure position as representative and tossed his homberg into a hotly contested senatorial fight against such campaigners as Blair Moody and John Martin.

It will be quite a change for the Sault Ste. Marie Rupublican who for so long has been keeping house G.O.P. members in line with his hickory gavel. "But, at least, I'll learn something—the hard way," says the indefatigable Knox.

Most of the things Knox has learned have been picked up the hard way.

"When I was 14," he says, "I figured the schools couldn't teach me any more. I quit and went to work on the farm (Sault township). I worked in Detroit at the Timken Axel Works for a year, 12 hours a night, and then came back to the farm."

When he was 18, his father retired and Vic took over the 280-acre farm.

He married Bertha Byers, also of the Soo, when he was 20. "She's the one responsible for my education," he says. "Along about the time I had been married a year, I decided I needed a bit more education, and she coached me. I was good in math — poor in English." His English still is not too good.

He began his political career in 1925 when he was elected treasurer of Sault township. In 1930 he was named supervisor, a job he held for six years, holding all the important posts. In 1936 he came to the legislature.

"Then I had to start studying again," he says. "I attended all the lectures I could find and took a correspondence course. My wife still was beating the stuff into my head."

In the legislature, Knox's primary job was as committee member under the late John Espie, whose Ways and Means committee virtually was dictating the state's financial policy.

The last two years Knox has been primarily occupied with budget and taxes, actively opposing Gov. William's 4 per cent corporation tax on all sides, and lately he has been booming for the constitutional convention.

"Look back four years," he says, "when we still had a good balance in the gen-fund, albeit the money was going out faster than it came in.

"Since then we have added to the state income by $51 millions. And a year ago we still had a $21 million operating deficit. We levied additional taxes on corporations (the franchise tax) which brought in another $16 million. This year we find a $42 million deficit." This is his favorite subject.

"Everything we have done in those four years turns out to be purely stop-gap to keep the state solvent. This year we turn around and levy $30 to $33 million more in adjusted and new taxes which will keep the state from going any deeper. We may possibly—I say possibly—be able to apply $3 million of that on the present deficit, but if inflation continues to spiral the way it has the last fourye ars we'll be hopelessly lost.

"We can't afford to guess. We must have a constitutional convention and revise this hodge podge taxing system we have. The people won't stand for any more new taxes—we'll have to find some way of getting along on what now is taken in by rechanneling that revenue and making it work for the state."

Members of the Michigan Legislature are finding that allocation of tickets for the address of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur in the Capitol on May 15 is becoming a headache and almost a political liability.

General MacArthur insists on speaking at the Capitol itself, such as is customary for joint meetings of the House and Senate. He ruled out an appearance elsewhere.

The Capitol is not only a fire hazard, but the seating capacity in the House of Representatives is quite limited. Only a comparatively few persons can be accomodated.

The City of Lansing is planning a two-hour parade, 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., with high school bands coming from many towns and cities.

The Capital City welcome is being planned on a non-political basis, since the General says he is not a candidate for public office and has withdrawn his name from all state primary elections to date.
